

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus for forming an image, in which hardware resources for use in the forming of the image are provided, and a program runs in 5 respect of the forming of the image. The apparatus includes an image data converting unit which converts a format of image data, and a format unifying unit which unifies a plurality of formats of image data by utilizing the image data converting 10 unit.